WANTED--A WIFE.

We imagine the author of the following is rather hard to please, but we think if any of our young lady readers will fill the bill, he will make her a good husband;

I want a wife, a first-rate wife—
A girl that's all my own—
To cook my meals and cheer my life
With smiling word and tone.

I want a kind of apple girl,
Ripe, rosy-cheeked and sound,
Whose tender feelings sorter quirl
And turn me all around.

A girl with cheeks like hollyhocks,
Industrious, kind and true,
That's smart enough to foot my socks
And mend my clothes like new.

A girl that ne'er will pledge a vow,
To any chap but me—
That's been brought up to milk a cow
And have warm cakes for tea.

Like tallow lips here eyes must be,
As melting and as bright,
They'll do to court by, you see,
And save another light.

She must be as graceful as the bell,
Upon the lily pond,
And make such butter as will sell
At thirty cents a pound.

Whiskey Bill--The West Taxed for the Benefit of the East.

Mr. Editor.—Can you, or will you or somebody else, tell us distillers when the Federal administration will cease surrounding us with vexatious changes, degrading and insulting restrictions and ruinous exactions?—some of them near a-kin to blackmailing. Why is all this unfriendly legislation toward the Western and Southern distillers? When will they cease appointing swindling officials to watch and hound us from point to point, as if we were so many malefactors? When will the trade and traffic in spirits flow smoothly, regularly and freely in the channels of commerce as other articles of manufacture do and should in all free countries? Will they never stop their encroachments until all the capital invested in such manufacture is worthless, and many of them heavily prostrated and ruined? Will not the enormous tax of two dollars per gallon before he moves his whiskey from warehouse "A" in this district, end in this? Where is the manufacturer who can stand such a draught when added to the cost of production, without a great or even ruinous sacrifice? Those who concocted and voted for such a law, must surely have thought a distiller's back as strong as that of a mule, or the sire of a mule—that he can carry any load the administration may think proper to pile upon him, without faltering—or they would have voted differently.

Let us see what he must carry under this law, or stop his distillery. Here it is: For illustration we will take the cost of running a hundred bushel distillery at a yield of three gallons per bushel, which is the largest average yield that may be calculated on, with the tax added. The cost of grain, material, fuel, &c., at the present prices, on such a yield, is about sixty cents for every gallon which, with the tax added, requires the distiller to pay two dollars and sixty cents for every gallon he may make. This would require such a distiller to pay daily about eight hundred dollars, or very nearly two hundred and fifty thousand dollars per year. If he runs a two hundred bushel house, it would be about sixteen hundred dollars per day, or nearly half a million per annum, and so increasing in proportion.

Where is the distiller who can stand such a drain, unless he can realize on his whiskey to meet it? How can he realize on it to a sufficient extent to enable him to carry on, when the trade in it, unless the tax is paid, is confined within the narrow limits of warehouse "A"? For it is very certain that foreign capital will not sufficiently come to his relief under such restrictions, he must therefore pay the himself, or stop operating. Each distiller, to stand such a drain and operate successfully, should have been allowed by the same law to have bank of his own, based upon the quantity of whiskey deposited by him in warehouse "A," and the amount of currency issued should be regulated in the same manner. For every gallon so deposited he should have been allowed to have issued currency to the amount of the government tax, with the stamp on its face: legal tender for all debts due the Government or otherwise, except customs and interest on the national bonds where it is payable in coin—leaving on deposit in the hands of the warehouse keeper the whiskey and the price of production—sixty cents per gallon in addition, which is advanced by the manufacturer to the government as a bonus for the faithful payment of the taxes and the reduction of said currency. Although this may not be exactly constitutional, we distillers think it an act of necessity, and the constitution must either give way, as it did in the case of the National Banks, or we must stop operations, and this loyal administration will lose its revenue.

Such a banking system, it seems to us, would have several advantages over the present National Banking system, for the following reasons: The whiskey so deposited as the base of issue would go into the bond without requiring the government or any body else to pay any interest upon it, thereby relieving the people of the taxes to that extent, which would be one great advantage over the present National Banking system. As the bonds upon which the National Bank issue are made to draw interest payable by the government at the rate of six or seven per cent, per annum, and the people are taxed by the administration to pay it. 2d, The currency so issued upon the distillers' deposit of whiskey, would be given to the people free of interest, as well as pay the taxes upon the whiskey. This is not so with the National Bank issues, as every dollar that is afloat outside their vaults, some one is paying a heavy interest upon, to the stockholders; thereby shaving and skinning the people both ways like a two edged sword; first by paying interest upon those bonds, and then upon the currency issued upon them; which is a cheat—a delusion—another mode of unnecessary filching taxes out of the people; and swindling them into slavery, and all, to, in the names of liberty and honesty! 3d, The whiskey so deposited would always be so improved by age that its value would increase more rapidly than if its original value had been invested in interest bearing bonds payable to the government instead of from it; thereby everyday increasing the security for the redemption of said currency, as well as the payments of the taxes; whereas, government bonds under any or in all forms draw interest from the government, and the administration taxes the people to pay said interest, thereby lessening the ability of the administration to pay its debt, and compelling it to enslave the people to pay said taxes; which should and will always be avoided by a just and feeling administration. 4th, It would at once relieve this whole country from its present pecuniary embarrassment, by largely increasing the circulating medium; giving to us a good solvent currency, based upon increasing security; of unjust, cruel, ignorant and unfortunate legislation. All taxes and restrictions but no revenue
A DISTILLER.

The Man who ate the First Oyster.

An article illustrating the philosophy of manias, contains the following: He was a bold man, who first swallowed an oyster, says De Quincy. Conceive a shipwrecked Phœnician sailor scrambling over the wet rocks, perhaps one who has tasted no food for three days. He notices those little bivalves for the first time in his life; accidentally he touches the open shell of one, and it closes. He tries to insert a splinter from the broken ship, which is floating by him, where he saw the two shells close together, but is unsuccessful. At last he seizes the lower shell from the rocks by striking it with a loose stone, and makes an opening for his splinter, and thus at last tears apart the ligaments by which the oyster holds on.—He stares at the strange, and to him disgusting lump of fleshy substance, then he touches it with his finger, then smells of it. He hesitates, and finally throws it away. An hour after, impelled by gnawing pains in his stomach, and fear of a horrible death, he goes to the place where he threw it, searches for it, washes it clean in a limpid pool left by the tide among the rocks, and after many dry laces and futile efforts, with a prayer to Jupiter, swallows it. His heart heaves once or twice, but his tongue rolls round his palate, he is forced to admit there is nothing unpleasant in the taste left in his mouth. He imagines once or twice he feels symptoms of a gripping pain, but that passes off. An hour later he feels so much better that he looks for another oyster, and before the sun goes down behind the watery horizon he has eaten two. With another prayer to the gods, he makes for himself a hole in the warm, dry sand, above the tide mark, and goes to sleep with his last thoughts turned to the home which, after his rash venture, added to the other dangers of his situation, he hardly expected to see again. When, on the next day he meets his comrades and persuades them to eat oysters, he finds that it is less difficult for the others to follow his example than it was for him to set it, and within a year or two all the sailors in the Phœnician navy, and all inhabitants in ports visited by Phœnician ships, eat oysters regularly. So oysters became scarce, and the original discoverer of their value as food, on some occasions, when sitting on the beach taking a friendly meal, complains that there are so many folks hunting for oysters that he cannot obtain over six or eight dozen a day.

Outrage at Frankfort--Negro Hung by a Mob.

One of the most horrible crimes that ever disgraced this State was unexpectedly revealed at Frankfort on Thursday, and the exposure was followed by a prompt and terrible punishment. A day or two previous a young girl named Hannah Callahan was found at the foot of the cliff at the entrance of the railroad tunnel, very badly bruised and insensible. It was supposed for a time that she had accidentally fallen over the cliff; but on Thursday she was restored to consciousness, and revealed the fact that she was the victim of an internal outrage which is classed with the highest crime known to our law and is worthy of a thousand fold worse punishment than is attached to its commission. Her person had been outraged by a negro fiend, who, to conceal his crime, had thrown his victim from the embankment to the railroad, a distance of some seventy-five feet, hoping to secure her silence by her murder. Upon confirmation of her story, the negro was arrested and placed in jail. But the news spread like wild-fire among the Irish citizens, and an excited mob gathered speedily, proceeded to the jail, forced the doors; seized the guilty scoundrel, and taking him to the scene of his crime, hung him until he was dead, and left his body dangling in the air. It is proper to say that the Gov. Stevenson and Gen. Wolford did all in their power to prevent the mob from executing their vengeance on the villain, but the whole affair was so rapidly conceived and carried out that they had not time to get sufficient forces to awe the excited throng or to resist them by force. We deprecate mob law, and regret every resort to it—but we must say that hanging was too light a punishment for such a villain. The Frankfort Yeoman at yesterday says: "Hannah Callahan, the unfortunate young lady whose sufferings have elicited the sympathies of our whole community, was on Saturday evening still alive, though in a critical condition. Her injuries are of such a nature as to render her recovery extremely doubtful, although her physicians are not without some hope.—Kentuckian.

Kentucky, Central Railroad.

The stock holders, through Mr. Zinn, have brought their case before Circuit-court of this district, and the following is the result:

The only question for the court to determine is, have the plaintiffs any status any existence, or did the sale of the road, with all its property and privileges, de facto and de jure, destroy the corporation? I am of the opinion the corporation was not destroyed, de facto or de jure by the de crystal sale made under a judgment of the Fayette Circuit Court, and that for the purposes of this action, they have a corporation, with full power to inquire into the conduct of the former officers of the company, and examine the conduct of those who brought about the sale of the road, as well as the conduct, motives and effect of those who purchased the road. An individual can clearly, upon such allegations as are contained in this bill, investigate fully into the conduct of parties who, by fraud or other illegal and improper acts, cause their property to be sold, so can corporations, although their whole substance, but not existence, has been sold. The correctness of such sale, and the benefit derived by such sale, when participated in by a part of the corporators, are certainly within the powers left to the body politic to inquire into.

New Hampshire Politics.

The Democrats appear to have it pretty much their own way in the present canvass in New Hampshire. They are having spirited meetings all over the State, and are forming clubs and making converts every day. Universal apathy appears to have fallen upon the Radicals, and the report that their candidate for Governor, General Harriman, will be superceded on account of his unpopularity is freely circulated, without as yet meeting with any contradiction. The only enthusiasm the Radicals can bring out at their gatherings is about General Grant, whom they have declared to be their choice for the Radical nomination for President. The late town elections show Democratic gains, and as the majority of the Radicals has been diminishing from year to year for the past three years there is certainly a very fair prospect for the Democrats to sweep the State on the 10th of March next. Their candidate for Governor, John G. Sinclair, has distinguished himself in many official positions and bears a most exemplary reputation in private life. His antagonist, General Harriman, was formerly a Democrat, and they were in the State Legislature together—Sinclair in the Senate and Harriman in the Lower House. The following will show the gradual decadence of the Radical vote in New Hampshire for some time past:

	1866.	1867.	1867.
Gov.		Gov.	Con.
Rep	35,137	35,809	25,79
Dem	30,481	32,663	32,79
Total	65,618	68,462	68,590
Maj	5,636	3,146	2,990

In 1866 the State was carried by the Radicals against the Democrats by 4,656 majority, on a total vote of 65,618; and in the spring of 1867, on a vote of 65,585, the same party carried the State upon the national issues by 2,890 majority. In one year the Democratic vote has increased 2,316, and the Radical but 990 votes. These results show the Radical majority reduced 1,657 votes in one year and that a change of 1,500 votes will give the State to the Democrats. But this was before the late great recreations, as exhibited in the great States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and California and it is fair to calculate that these reactions will not be without their effect in the Granite State.—Indianapolis Herald.

A NEW EDITOR.

Our devil took the editorial chair the other day, and furnished the following. We are afraid he is too knowing for one of his age; but to encourage youthful genius, we publish it:

I SAW HER BUT A MOMENT.—She wore a handsome crinoline on the day when first we met, and she scudded like a schooner with a cloud of canvass set. As she swept along the pavement with a grandeur fit to kill. I saw her but a moment, yet I think I see her still.

The wind was on a bender, and as saucy as a witch, and it played the very dickens with the dust, dimity and silk. The gaiters were delicious which her feet was made to fill—I saw her but a moment, yet methinks I see her still.

She scooted round the corner, and streaming out behind, her crinoline and calico were romping in the wind, to have kept them in position would have baffled twice her skill—I saw her but a moment, yet methinks I see her still.

I shut my eyes tremenjous, for I didn't want to see, a display, of pretty ankles when it wasn't ment for me; and until I loose my senses, I am sure I never will—I saw her but a moment, yet methinks I see her still.

A touching instance of carnubial affection and devotion occurred not long since in New Hampshire. An aged couple, who, during half a century of married life, had wrangled and quarreled with each other, were in all probability soon to be separated. The old husband was taken sick, and believed to be near his end. The old spouse came to his bedside, and after carefully examining and taking stock of his condition, exclaimed:

"Wy, daddy, your feet are cold, and your hands are cold, and your nose is cold!"

"Wa'al let 'um be cold."

"Wy, daddy, you'r going to die!"

"Wa'al, I guess I know wot I'm bout!"

"Wy, daddy, wat's to becom of me if you die?"

"I dunno, and don't care! Wat I want to know is, wat's to become of me?"

THE CYNTHIANA NEWS

CYNTHIANA, KY.
THURSDAY, : : : Feb. 13, 1868
A. J. MOREY, EDITOR.

Senatorship.

Hon. James Guthrie, a member of the United States Senate, from Kentucky, has tendered his resignation. Of course it was accepted, and we understand that a resolution has passed both houses to go into an election to fill the vacancy occasioned by his resignation. It is thought that Jno. W. Stevenson, the Governor of the State, will be elected to fill the vacancy. We hope so. He can do more good as a Senator, than as Governor. Let him go to Washington.

Some Figures.

In practical arithmetic, one of the first things the schoolboy learns, is that figures have two kinds of value—simple and local. Business men are more apt to like the application of this principle than boys are, especially delighting to prove by arithmetic that their business is prosperous. In the Gas business the science is as important as in any other. We therefore propose to show by that exact science that the plan of lighting Cynthiana by gas, is altogether possible. And we have been assisted in making our calculations by those who are practically acquainted with the matter. The cost of the works is estimated at about $25,000. The expense of coal, labor, &c., per annum, about $3,000. The price of gas will be $5 per 1000 cubic feet. Although this price seems high, compared with the price in Cincinnati. It is the same the Lexington company charged for many years. Now that company sells at $4.50, and the stock pays large dividends. It will be necessary here in commencing, to charge the above-named price, but as in Lexington, it may, after a few years, be afforded at a less price.

The coke and tar made by the works, above what will be required for their own use, will sell for about $600 per annum. Gas for 40 street lamps will pay the company from $1,900 to $1,200. With this calculation it is estimated that 50 additional consumers will pay the whole annual expense of running the works. Therefore, as soon as the number of consumers exceeds 50, the stock will pay dividends. Of course the profits will depend on the amount of gas consumed, and will not be equal to the profits of a similar investment in a large city.

The pipes in the houses will cost from $10 to $100, according to the amount, and the expense of fixtures, according to the style. And when a house is once fitted, the pipes and fixtures are permanent. With these data any one good at figures can make all necessary calculations.

A Call for a Convention of Distillers at the Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Ky.

Mr. Editor:—

I, as one of the distillers that met in convention, at the Phoenix Hotel, in Lexington, Ky., on Friday the 7th inst., to take into consideration the oppressive operations of the late whiskey law, which requires the distillers to pay the enormous tax of two dollars per gallon, before he removes his whiskey from the first bonded warehouse, and who there passed certain resolutions against those oppressive restrictions, which, if not removed, must end in the stoppage of our operations in said manufacture; and materially lessen, if not wholly destroy the value of all capital so invested; but we adjourned over, to meet again on Friday the 21st of this month, for the purpose of re-considering such matters as are therein contained, and adding any other that we may deem advisable in furtherance of our object, and for the purpose of having a full representation of all the distillers in Kentucky, to aid us with their counsel and advice. I take this method of publishing our intention to all those whom it may concern; believing it most likely, through this channel, to reach every distiller, and hoping that none will disregard the call. We request that you will give this call publicity through the "News," and that all other editors in Kentucky who are friendly to the movement, will do likewise.

I. N. LAIR.

How Are You?

A visit among one's friends is a good thing. To sit in front of a large old fashioned fire-place in the country, with a blazing fire, and happy faces and light hearts around, imbues one with a desire "to live always"—and when we remember that we are welcome, and receive a hearty shake of the hand, with the exclamation of "How are you?—how have you been?" &c., coming from the heart, instead of being hissed out from the teeth in a snarling, hypocritical and haughty style, we feel better toward the world, and believe often that there is some hope of its final redemption and regeneration. Man was intended for a husbandman, a farmer. The Creator expected that he should eat his "bread in sweat of his brow," and that his subsistence should be dug up from the earth, and if it was gained in any other manner, it must come illegitimately, that is to say, not in accordance with the design of our Maker.

Because nineteen-twentieths of the farming community are strangers to deceit, hypocrisy and chicanery. They sow and reap, and live upon the produce which they have made by their own industry. They come in contact, and are compelled to deal with but few people of the world, and it is not expected that they will or can cheat, for a market price is placed upon most everything they offer for sale. There are exceptions to all rules, as a matter of course, and there are some in this; but as a general thing, it is universally conceded that by far the largest portion of humanity are tillers of the soil, and in our opinion more honesty is found among that class.

It was not our intention when we set out with this article to speak of the husbandmen as we have, but to give an item or two of news from the people of Bourbon, in and about the town of Clintonville. That country is Democratic—most entirely so. They believe in the constitution and enforcement of the laws—and that all should be secured in the right of life, liberty, property and the pursuit of happiness. A people thoroughly wedded to just principles are most likely to be happy and hospitable, and delight to see others similarly situated. In our sojourn there, we remained with our highly respected friend, Dr. Willett. Near Clintonville, a large and extensive cheese manufactory has been located. It was built by a stock company, and Mr. J. Weathers is the President. The concern, thus far, been a success. The President is a gentleman of fine business qualifications, and one of the best men in Kentucky. In this section of the country, can be found good men, who served an apprenticeship in camp Chase, and among them is Mr. Parvin, a staunch Democrat and thrifty farmer. The memory of that infamous hole of radical spite is still fresh in his memory. He was sent there because he was not a "corn and fodder Democrat." This kind of a Democrat is thus explained:

During the war an election took place for President. A good, clever farmer approached the polls and voted, and on his way home met a friend to whom he said, "I reckon they will let my corn and fodder alone now!"

"How so?" asked the friend.

"Well, I voted for Lincoln."

So he saved his corn and fodder but surrendered his principles.

Mr. Parvin adhered to his principles, which cost him a visit to prison.

Mr. Buchanan is one of the leading Democrats of that District, and a good conservative man. Clintonville is a small town with one or two groceries and a dry goods store. The country surrounding it is fine, with land at about one hundred dollars per acre. The Christian denomination have a neat new church there with a large number of communicants. They hold service once a month. The Presbyterians also, have a house of worship there, and in days past and gone, were quite numerous. They have no regular worship now.

All kinds of gents furnishing Goods will be had very cheap at C. T. Dellings New Store.

Democratic Meeting.

A meeting of the Democracy of the county of Harrison, was held at the Court-house in Cynthiana, on Monday, February 10, 1868.

On motion of I. T. Martin, Esq., Gen. L. Desha was called to the chair and T. A. Frazer appointed Secretary.

I. T. Martin stated that an impression had gone abroad, which he thought did injustice to the Democracy of the county, that they were opposed to Gov. Stevenson. He therefore offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we cordially endorse the administration of the Hon. J. W. Stevenson, our acting Governor, and we cheerfully recommend him to the convention to be held in Frankfort on the 22d of February, as the choice of the Democracy of Harrison as our candidate for Governor at the August election.

On motion of Hon. A. H. Ward, a committee was appointed by the chair composed of the following gentlemen: A. H. Ward, J. S. Boyd, D. Raymond, J. Blair, W. G. Vandoren, N. S. Patterson, I. T. Martin, M. D. Martin and H. C. Ogle, to prepare resolutions expressive of the views of the meeting, and also to select delegates to attend the State Convention to be held in Frankfort on the 22d inst.

The committee then retired, and during their absence, A. J. Morey, Esq., moved to reconsider the vote by which this meeting indorsed the administration of Gov. Stevenson, and recommended him as the choice of the Democracy of this county for the office of Governor. The motion was rejected.

The meeting was then addressed by C. W. West, Esq., in a brief, but earnest and eloquent speech. After which Hon. A. H. Ward, from the committee on resolutions, reported the following.

Resolved, The Democracy of Harrison county, adheres strictly to the doctrine embraced in the 10th article of the Constitution of the United States, which is as follows: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Resolved, The right of each State to regulate its own internal affairs, franchise its own citizens and select its own agents and law makers, is held by us as sacred as the Constitution and as indestructible as the Government itself.

Resolved, That the "reconstruction acts," other kindred measures, passed by the party having control of the General Government deserve the condemnation of every friend to civil liberty, for the following among the reasons:

1st, They are revolutionary in character, passed by a radical majority in Congress, for partisan purposes, and to gratify fanatical hate.

2d, They are not only enacted without constitutional warrant, but in utter disregard of all of the reserved rights of the States.

3d, Their effect has been, and will be, to demoralize labor, to paralyze enterprise and cripple the commerce of the Union by a diminution of its great staples to such an extent as to make the burdens of taxation intolerable and bankruptcy almost certain.

4th, Because they disfranchise white intelligence and worth and enfranchise black ignorance and vice.

5th, Because they, at the expense of untold millions of Treasure force upon the American people, the experiment of holding millions of white American citizens in bondage and making ignorant negroes their political masters.

Resolved, That the wounds of the late unhappy war cannot be healed by irritation or vindictive legislation, but can only be cured by God's law of kindness. We therefore invoke and invite all of the influences of patriotic civilization and christianity to be brought to bear upon the President of the United States, to induce him to issue a proclamation of universal amnesty immediately.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting, the success of the Democratic party is the patriots only hope for relief from the misrule of Radical fanaticism, and for the restoration of the great principles of constitutional liberty, and to that end we the friends and advocates of the people's rights against the aggressions of corrupt rulers, pledge ourselves to cooperate, heart and soul, with the friends of civil liberty, North and South, East and West, in the great battle of independence, which must be fought at the ballot-box by the intelligent freemen of America within the present year.

Resolved, As the act of Congress authorizing the issue of Treasury notes, make them "legal tender for all debts, public and private, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt," we are in favor of all government bonds (except where gold payments are specified) to be paid in such legal tender, or greenbacks.

Resolved, Holding that in a Republic, there should be no class legislation or exclusive privileges granted. We are in favor of making those who own government bonds subject to the same taxation as is imposed on other property or investments.

Resolved, That we approve the call for the Democratic State Convention, to meet at Frankfort on the 22d of February, 1868.

Resolved, The following persons are appointed as delegates to the State Democratic Convention to be held in Frankfort on the 22d of this month:

Debility and Emaciation.

Both result from the lack of ability to convert the food into nutriment. How necessary, then, for those suffering from these alarming symptoms to immediately resort to a remedy that will strengthen the stomach and digestive organs. For, as soon as this desirable object has been accomplished, the health improves, and the patient resumes his usual personal appearance. HOSLETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS have obtained a world-wide popularity in such cases, and have been proven the best and safest means of removing constipation, toning the stomach, giving energy to the liver and relieving every symptom of nervousness and depression of spirits. Its cheering and beneficial effects are highly spoken of by thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health. No restorative in the annals of medicine has attained the same popularity in the short space of time it has been before the public, or has won the high endorsements accorded to this excellent tonic. Many other preparations, purporting to be correctives and restoratives, have been introduced, and have perished one by one, while the popularity of Hosletter's Stomach Bitters continues to increase, and is now recognized as a standard household medicine. The success which attends the use of the Bitters, evinces at once its virtues in all cases of debility and diseases of the stomach. Certificates, almost without number, have been published, attesting its truly miraculous power in removing those painful and fearful diseases. And at this time it seems idle to do more than call attention to the great remedy of the age, in order to awaken public attention to its excellence. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

GRAY JACKETS,

And how they Lived, Fought and Died for Dixie.

With incidents and sketches of life in the Confederacy.

Comprising narratives of personal adventures, army life, naval adventure, home life, partisan daring, life in the camp, field, and hospital, together with the songs, ballads, anecdotes and humorous incidents of the war for Southern independence.

There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, nor be embodied in romances or poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports or careful narratives of events, and this part may be called the gossip, the fun, the pathos of the war. This illustrates the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers, the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service.

The valiant and brave-hearted, the picturesque and dramatic, the witty and marvelous, the tender and pathetic, and the whole panorama of the war are here thrillingly portrayed in a masterly manner, at once historical and romantic, rendering it the most ample, unique, brilliant and readable book that the war has called forth. Announcement as well as instruction may be found in every page; as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history, are skillfully interwoven in this work of literary art.

Sent for circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work. Address JONES BROTHERS & CO., 148 West Fourth street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Jan 30-1868

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS!
The Great Female Remedy for Irregularities!!!

I HAVE tested these Drops in my own practice, over ten years, and do not hesitate to say, that nothing has yet been developed by medical research, that acts so powerfully, positively and harmlessly, in cases of female irregularity, as does this medicine. In all recent cases, it never fails, while thousands who have been long sufferers, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day.
Although so powerful and positive, they are perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times, except when specially forbidden in the directions.
They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France and England, as well as in my own practice, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of one instance of failure. I could give you testimonials of their efficacy from ladies all over the Northern and North Western States, were they not in their nature, private. Over 100,000 bottles have been sold the last year, and I hope and trust as many sufferers have been benefited. I am well aware that a remedy so potent to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that when one bottle is used, ten may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.
To all who suffer from any irregularity; painful, difficult, excessive, offensive or obstructed Menstruation, Leucorrhoea, or the train of diseases that follow, I would say, try a bottle of Dr. Lyon's French Periodical Drops. Being a fluid preparation, their action is more direct and positive than any pills or powders. Explicit directions, bearing my facsimile, accompany each bottle.
They may be obtained of nearly every druggist in the country, or by enclosing the price to C. G. Clark & Co., New Haven, Ct., General agents for the United States in Canada.

POLLANDS
POWDERS!!!
THIS PREPARATION IS THE DISCOVERY of the Rev. J. W. Poland, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church in Goffstown, N. H., and a man deeply beloved by that denomination throughout New England. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his own life, and his Magic Powders are one of the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. It is the great Liver and Bilious remedy, which completely throws in the shade all other discoveries in medicine; and it affords him much gratification that they receive the unanimous approbation of all who have tested them. The Magic Bilious Powders are a positive cure for Liver Complaint, in its most aggravated form, and an immediate corrector of all Bilious Disorders. Excellent for headache, constipation, pimples, blotches, a sallow skin, drowsiness, dizzy, nervous, heartburn, palpitation and most wonderful cure and preventive for Fever and Ague. [We advise all who are troubled with this fearful malady to always keep the Powders on hand for immediate use.]
Here are a few important particulars:
1st.—They are the Great Specific for all Bilious Affections.
2d.—They are the only known remedy that will cure Liver Complaint.
3d.—They are the only known remedy that will cure Constipation.
4th.—The Powders are so thorough in their operation that one package will be all that the majority of those using them will require to effect a cure.
5th.—They are a mild and pleasant yet the most effectual cathartic known.
6th.—They are the cheapest and best medicine extant, as they can be sent by mail to any part of the world for the price, 50 cents. Circulars, containing certificates, information, &c., sent to any part of the world free of charge.
Sold by all druggists, or by mail on application to

J. J. GOOD,
GUNSMITHING,
AND DEALER IN
Guns, Pistols, and all kinds of Pistol Cartridges. Superior Gun Powder, Powder Flasks, Shot Bags, and all kinds of sporting apparatus.
Also a large assortment of Keys on hand, and fitted to suit locks of all kinds.
ALSO the exclusive right of Harrison county, for the sale of the Singer Sewing Machine.

Family Sewing Machine,
This machine is without a superior in the world. It runs as fast and easy and with as little noise as any first class machine in market. It will sew from the stoutest leather to the finest bank bill, and makes every stitch perfect. It hems, folds, binds, cords and tucks; and is adapted to every variety of work. It is strong, compact and durable, and will last twenty years, for ordinary family sewing, if not broken by accident or carelessness. But it is useless to parade a long list of the merits of this machine before the public, as the poorest connoisseurs furnish them in the greatest abundance. All can try this machine by calling on the agent and it will proclaim its own merits.
